

Anna Ternheim, My Heart Still Beats For You

Hard to believe how people move
Falling out of love with you
Tearing down all the walls and love the chaos
I thought again of driving by
The place we met, you and I
Where it started, how we lived together always
My heart still beats for you
My heart still beats for you
After all it's always you
You came down hard that summer
I started to dance, remember everything
Not a thought of you and I lied a lot too, maybe to forget you
My heart still beats for you
My heart still beats for you
My heart still beats for you
My heart still beats for you
After all it's always you
I come back to
I come back to you
I come back to you
I come back to you
