Anna Ternheim, My Secret

Today must have been one of the strangest days Some would say that you wont find love that way The best days are not planned by common sense By lack of time

You just happen to be where everything feels fine

Its a new secret i have found

From today i'll change my priorities around Im no longer in command, and people say Im off solid ground and you're to blame But they dont understand, people never do It's confusing, i dont expect them to

Its a new secret i have found

Today must have been one of the strangest days I found a place where i could stay And people say that it will kill me, But they dont understand People never do, but it makes sense to me To be senseless to change my plans for you

Its a new secret i have found

And i'm off solid grounds for you
