

Anna Vissi, Still In Love With You

Sorry to call you Am I wrong to be thinking of you I've got so many things on my mind but yet so many things don't come out right Like how do I tell you "I'm sorry I've hurt you"
I don't know if you forgive me but I wish you could be with me

I'm still in love with you
I still believe in you
I still hold on to the feeling, hoping it's real and knowing it's killing me
You're still the only one
I love you right or wrong and I can't give up and I can't move on the ghost of your love keeps me holding on

Gone are days of laughing at love at tears I got so many things I could tell you but then so many dreams never came true
I promised forever and I never stopped believing We could have had it all but the tide won't turn and the world moved on

I'm still in love with you
I still believe in you
I still hold on to the feeling, hoping it's real and knowing it's killing me
You're still the only one
I love you right or wrong
and I can't give up and I can't move on
the ghost of your love keeps me holding on

And if I could find the way to make you understand I'd promise forever ooh
We should have had it all
And it's killing me baby
