

Anne Heaton, Where Your Scar Is

Sister off she went
And it hurt your heart
So you buried it
Deep inside your chest
Under the papers on your desk
And I know this
That your love lives where your scar is
And I know why
Even when I'm right next to you I feel lonely sometimes
I try to wake you up
Spitting out insults
But they just bounce off your forehead
I learned not to use kind words
Never use kind words
They just scare you away
And I know this
That your love lives where your scar is
And I know why
Even when I'm right next to you I feel lonely sometimes
Sometimes the most important thing
Between two people goes unsaid
And for us it was that happiness lie ahead
We believed this so completely
In the end it would defeat me
For all I ever wanted was your love
And I know this
That your love lives where your scar is
And I know why
Even when I'm right next to you I feel lonely sometimes
