

Anne McCue, We Are The Same

Take me down to your darkest deep
Let me see all those secrets you keep
Please me, let me walk upon your stage
Open the door, let me get inside your cage
'Cause love only burns you
If you set it aflame
I'm looking at you
I can tell we are the same
Yeah love only hurts you
If you call it a game
I've met you before
I can tell we are the same
Put down all those weapons you keep
Call off the dogs
Let it be just you and me
I think, I think I know who you are
First there was love
Then that wound became a scar
But love only burns you
If you set it aflame
I'm looking at you
I can tell we are the same
Yeah love only hurts you
If you call it a game
I've met you before
I can tell we are the same
It's coming to this - I'm coming to find you
Don't push me away
It's coming to that - I'm coming to love you
Don't force me back
