

Annie Lennox, Coloured Bedspread

Bright lights are going dim
I want to hide again
The nights are caving in
On my coloured bedspread
I wanna drift so far
To slip out of the crowd
It doesn't matter how
On my coloured bedspread
Ooooooh
You make the stars dissolve
Like sugar melting in my mouth
Some people come and go
But they won't ever know
About the things we do
On my coloured bedspread
Ooooooh
I remember places I've been to

Remember things I never knew
Remember dreams that all came true
On my coloured bedspread
Ooooooh
We make the stars collide
I touch the planets through your eyes
Can you feel it
Tell me can you feel it now
Can you feel it
Tell me can you feel it now
Can you feel it
Tell me can you feel it now
You make the stars dissolve
Like sugar melting in my mouth
Ooooooh.
Beneath my coloured bedspread
