

Annie, When The Night

When the night lingers in the thunder and rain
It's making me forget my name
And everything I've ever known
And baby, when the night turns everything I love into war
Like nothing that I know is for sure
And everything I've ever known is so far from home
I wanna know what love is all about
But first I'm going up and then I'm going down
Suddenly it's like I never seen the sun before
Do you see I wanna feel the lightning in my hand?
That underneath it all there's got to be a plan
Then I can understand what the hell I'm looking for
Somehow ended up in love
But I can't believe I wanted this phenomenon
'Cause I don't ever sleep at all
Stop now, stop you're leaving up again
I can't believe I wanted this phenomenon
And I, I hardly need to call
When the night lingers in the thunder and rain
It's making me forget my name
And everything I've ever known
And baby, when the night turns everything I love into war
Like nothing that I know is for sure
And everything I've ever known is so far from home
I wanna cool my fever in the rain
I'm burning like a moth attracted to the flame
But better that I burn than slowly fade away
And do you see I wanna feel the lightning in my hand
That underneath it all there's got to be a plan
Then I can understand what the hell I'm looking for
Somehow ended up in love
But I can't believe I wanted this phenomenon
'Cause I don't ever sleep at all
Stop now, stop you're speeding up again
I can't believe I wanted this phenomenon
And I, I hardly need to call
When the night lingers in the thunder and rain
It's making me forget my name
And everything I've ever known
And baby, when the night turns everything I love into war
Like nothing that I know is for sure
And everything I've ever known is so far from home
When the night lingers in the thunder and rain
It's making me forget my name
And everything I've ever known
And baby, when the night turns everything I love into war
Like nothing that I know is for sure
And everything I've ever known is so far from home
When the night lingers in the thunder and rain
It's making me forget my name
