Annihilator, Murder

Six feet under no longer alive this is your destiny cause I have arrived I am not a nightmare I am disease and I'll bring society to it's knees murder the world I was born to murder the world the fools and the innocent they're all the same to me, I thrive on pleasure and pain it's not a war of attrition I never lose the games feel the grand invasion feasting in the veins I was born to murder the world your strenght devoured just wither away 'til the final hour the battle is won march to the beat I am the plague, invincible that you can't defeat I was born to murder the world