

Annuals, Springtime

Well I never meant you harm when I laid you down
Told a story about your life as a kid
With every word I say, let one tear drop
Until it all comes clear
Just unlocks in time to hear
Springtime sing
Through every living core, there tolls a chime
It tethers life and love
And every time it rings
It's the promise that it brings you life
Absolve the rain its drop as all who hear
Make springtime sing
