

Anshelle, Moonlight Lady

Anshelle
Part Of The Game
Moonlight Lady

every time I'm looking at the pictures that we made it seems like, it feels like time is standing still while present fades and I wonder what you're doing now and if you still remember how close we were together and the way I loved you tender are you still alone or is somebody next to you I think of you and baby, and I don't know what I should do do you still remember when we danced into the night we kissed and laughed like crazy and you called me moonlight lady do you still remember when we said it's gonna last but it's been too long now baby I know she's gone, the moonlight lady if there is a chance to bring back love into my life to switch back, to get back dreams we fantasized I would start to run and never stop until I'm there in your arms which cover me and show me that you really care but it's been too long and I'm afraid to call your name time can change the world I know it wouldn't be the same do you still...
