Anthony Callea, A New Chapter

I walk these streets alone I see the world around me changing I'm in a dream Faces that I knew Are slowly turning into strangers I've never seen I read each line I turn the page I laugh and cry at this true story It's time for a new chapter to begin [Chorus:] Why does love fall easily for some When will it ever come to me How do I show you what burns inside my heart I'm not just who you want me to be, to be I hide out here sometimes I watch the sunlight leave the skyline Here I am safe I close my eyes and sleep Tomorrow brings another journey That I will take I read each line like it's the last I know this book, this time has passed I need a new chapter to begin [Chorus] I walk these streets alone I see the world around me changing I'm in a dream How do I show you what burns inside my heart

I'm not just who you want me to be, to be