

Anthony Green, Drugdealer

Anthony Green

Avalon

Drugdealer

If you allow

Something so unnecessary get you down

There's no one else to blame

I need something stronger something extra strength

Have millions of materials to trade

If you came around enough

You'd be like a God to us

Like a drug dealer

All sold out of trust

You threw it away

You' be like a god to us

Like a fools healer

Like a tarot card reader

But youve thrown it all away

I used to lie

That everyone i know seems to hate themselves

But everybody does

We need something stronger something extra strength

Have millions of recordings that are fake

If you could offer only love

Youd be like a god to us

Like a drug dealer

All sold out of trust

You threw it away

You'd be like a god to us

Like a fools healer

But you never guessed right.
