

Anthrax, Think About An End

Wake up on fire everyday
And I never say good-bye..
Pre-determined destiny
I've never been afraid to die..
Mmh!

Ever since I was a kid
I've seen things my own way with my own eyes..
With my hands I turn the screws
In my life i decide..

You're bent under the will of endless dogmatic restraints
I will rage against the machine spewing out blind faith

Think about an end you can live with
Think about an end I can give you
Think about an end that will satisfy

Think about an end you can live with
Think about an end I can give you
Think about an end

The only thing that's touched my soul
Ever in my life is love..
Tangible and psychical, visible
Unlike your god above..

You're bent under the will of endless dogmatic restraints
I will rage against the machine spewing out blind faith

Think about an end you can live with
Think about an end I can give you
Think about an end that will satisfy

Think about an end you can live with
Think about an end I can give you
Think about an end

Where is all the mercy on which your faith has been built
All I see is hatred caused by years of inbred guilt
Yeah!

Resurrecting genuflecting killing in the name
You disavow the right to choose
It's medievally insane

Your god is dead and doesn't care
Tell me which one's worst
An uncaring god or knowing that you're alone on this earth?
Yeah!

(Wake up on..)
(Wake up on..)
(Wake up on..)
(Wake up on..)

Wake up on fire everyday
And I never say good-bye..
Pre-determined destiny
I've never been afraid to die..

You're bent under the will of endless dogmatic restraints
I will scream with rage!

Think about an end you can live with
Think about an end I can give you
Think about an end that will satisfy

Think about an end you can live with
Think about an end I can give you
Think about an end

Think about an end
Think about an end
Think about an end

(Think about and end..)
(Think about and end..)