

Antigone Rising, She's Not Innocent

He casts a shadow down the block
He can't remember
Just how to start or when to stop?
Fight or defend her?
He shines the light into the dark
And empty corner
Right where the past had left its mark
Too late to warn her
But she's fine, she's not innocent
She's fine in all her discontent
And she knows it's always been the same
It'll always be that way, hey
He holds the secret in his fist
A burning ember
To stay or go? Now, that's the twist
Hate or befriend her?
But she's fine, she's not innocent
She's cool in all her discontent
And she knows it's always been the same

And she's fine, she's not ignorant
She knows there's no main event
And she's fine it's always been the same
It'll always be that way
It'll always be that way, be that way
But she's fine, she's not innocent
She's cool in all her discontent
And she knows it's always been the same
And she's fine, she don't give a damn
You don't have to understand
And she knows it's always been the same
And she'll always be that way
She's not innocent
She'll always be the same, yeah
She's always been that way
Hey, hey, yeah, yeah