

ApologetiX, Corinthians

Corinthians

[parody of In the End, by Linkin Park]

It starts with love

Young thing -- I don't know why

You didn't read the letter our Lord supplied

With that in mind, I revised this rhyme to explain to you guys

All... I... know

Love is... a powerful thing

Watch the fly guys with the Benjamins sing

Watch the countdown that the MTV plays

I got ticked by the way

It's so unreal -- Britney and Jennifer Lo

Watch the wardrobe -- looks like a window

Tryin' to hold on to itty bitty clothes

You pasted them on -- this is not true love

I guess everything's a hybrid breeding love and pride

In small jealous hearts

What it gets to be is essentially just a parody

Like this rhyme is of Linkin Park

You tried so hard, but love's so far

Corinthians -- it doesn't even matter

If love's too small -- you lose it all

Corinthians -- first letter, thirteenth chapter

Love waits -- it's also kind

It doesn't envy, brag, or grow hard with pride

Keeps things polite, doesn't like to fight

It denies itself, while it tries no harm

If I have the faith and philosophy

Acting like I was smarter than Socrates

And every language and tongue and prophecy

I could die and not go far

If at the stake they burned me or

I could've given every dime to many poor

If love's lackin' throw me back then

Buddy, Paul wrote that to Corinthians....

It bears everything, besides, believes and hopes, abides

That Paul fella's smart

Love he said to me will essentially keep no memory

Of you crimes 'cause it finds no fault

You tried so hard -- but love's so far

Corinthians -- it doesn't even matter

If love's too small -- you lose it all

Corinthians -- First letter, Thirteenth chapter

It likes what's just and true

Dislikes what's unrighteous though

Failure is the only one thing it can't know

The things that last are few

Things like faith and love and hope

From all these, there's only one thing you need most
