

Arcwelder, I Promise Not To Be An Asshole

(s macdonald)

No I won't be saying goodbye any time soon and I
I promise not to be an asshole
I could give my all for our good if you can then I would
Promise not to be an asshole

You are always worried that I'll be leaving in a hurry
If you speak it as the truth, then how can I refute
I believe in working on it, I will pour my heart upon it
I will do my best, you know I will do my best

So why is this so hard to write if you will then I might
Promise not to be an asshole
Deneen all my life where've you been make a move cause a scene
I promise not to be an asshole

This is something different for me I'm no longer lonely
And all that's passed before was just a mindless chore
Open up yourself to me and let me make you happy
If you'd take it on blind faith, have to take it on blind faith

That I won't be saying goodbye any time soon and I
I promise not to be an asshole
I'm a sap you've got me writing such crap by falling into my lap
I promise not to be an asshole

Usually when I'm writing I am writing something biting
As emotions start to seethe, the words pour right out of me
This is hard for me to give, just writing something positive
This is my gift to you, now here's my gift to you my Deneen