Arcwelder, Never The Same

(music: arcwelder lyrics: s.macdonald)

You are floating awash in your sea. Where does that leave me?

You slashed me and when you slashed it altered the past. I'm post trauma you left me and when you slashed it altered the past. sorting the shards of my scattered cards one more judgment day for my resume.

[chorus]
We're never the same
We both share the blame
So why did I ask you?
'cause now that I've asked you I'd have to say that love won't find a way

You were thinking
You were hinting
I'm obsessing
I'm struggling of running away from the first day but I couldn't see meant too much to me Turn off the brain and lock out the pain trying to get back what my ego lacks

[chorus]

So why did I ask you what I didn't want to know Thrashing and sinking in your ego's undertow

You are floating awash in your sea where does that leave me Bruised and battered alone and afraid mistakes have been made What an honor when you ran to him he took off again so I was betrayed but all wounds will fade

[chorus]