

Arid, Million Lights

Night has fallen
Curtains are drawn
And I've been singing
The same old song
About
How it feels
To be lost and alone
In a faraway place
My love
I see a million lights
And they all blend
Into the night
Visions slip into view
They all remind me of you
And what it is you might be doing
At the other end of the night
Every country I go
I travel the plane and open road
As the sky unravels, the truth unfolds
I've been looking in the eyes of love
I see a million lights
And they all blend
Into the night
Visions slip into view
They all remind me of you
And what it is you might be doing
At the other end of the night
