

Ariel Pink, Inmates Of Heartache

do the words you are gold mean anything to you let them ring on and let's not talk at all let's leave it there and move on hey what's wrong

do the words the end mean anything to you inmates of heartache are killing with love never succeeding but killing that love far away from hello comes distance but don't come unless you disappear these are the things that matter most saving love whatever the cost just because you don't see it doesn't make it unreal all men captive want to be set us free

do the words around do anything to you
