

Armor For Sleep, Being Your Walls

Pull your arms up around your knees
And hide out inside your room
Pretend you can't feel at all

Just realize that I know how you feel now

If all I am is a distraction for you then I can't complain that you can't feel something for me
Take all you can, find in me

Can you think back to when things worked
When dreams were the days you lived
When you never cried alone

Just realize that I know how you feel now

If all I am is a distraction for you
then I can't complain that you can't feel something for me
Take all you can, find in me

I know how (know how)
You feel now (you feel now)

If all I am is a distraction for you
then I can't complain that you can't feel something for me
Take all you can, find in me