

Arsis, Oh, The Humanity

A false confession sprayed forth from the mouth of disdain

What words Spoken?

What Love Swayed?

And the mirror broken brings the faith of the damned to me

This is how the lost ones feel in love and in life

Close your legs when vanity's forlorn

Close your legs before I close them for you

Close your legs and in time properly behold...

Oh, The humanity

The heart of love bereaved with hollow eyes and a whisper waiting for words to fill the lies

A heart's rejection sprang quick and laid claim to me

Where's reason when love's swayed and the broken mirror brings the faith of the damned to me.