

Art Bears, On Suicide

In such a country and at such a time,
There should be no melancholy evenings,
Even high bridges over the rivers,
And the hours between the night and morning,
And the long winter time as well:
All these are dangerous!
For in view of all the misery,
People just throw, in a few seconds time,
Their unbearable lives away.