

Article One, Confetti Smile

So maybe when we're older
If we get a little bolder
We'll be famous and they'll say
Remember when when they were younger
And their band played in the summer
Everyone around for sure thought they'd go far
I used to know everybody at the show
And they were the people in my songs
But it's changing now
For better hope somehow
But the song is all they know
Confetti smile, smile the widest
When the cameras come your way
It's your style, paparazzi
Got you in their sights today
It's been a while, so I doubt
That you'd remember me at all
It's funny how life is
At the end of some reception
In the fore mask of deception
A girl said, "May I have this dance with you"
And though I held her close
Dancing to the song she chose
I could tell it wasn't me that caught her eye
How does it look
Is the cause for the decision
Whatever they think
Is the motive for ambition
Public relations and everything they say
Is all that matters now
Confetti smile, smile the widest
When the cameras come your way
It's your style, paparazzi
Got you in their sights today
It's been a while, so I doubt
That you'd remember me at all
It's funny how life is
Is this who I am?
Is this who I am?
Is this who I am?
Is this who?
I used to know everybody at the show
And they were the people in my songs
But it's changing now
For better hope somehow
But the song is all they know
Confetti smile, smile the widest
When the cameras come your way
It's your style, paparazzi
Got you in their sights today
It's been a while, so I doubt
That you'd remember me at all
It's funny how life is
