Arwen, Dreamland

I had a vision in my mind where it was a different world there people lived other life in a time out of our control

I've seen moonlight and sun shine more where sky is pure and clean I've felt whisperings in the air and breezes of (other) seas

Will new winds of change come that they'll bring illusion? will lost hope return dreamland? where do your tears fall? dreamland

Where children's innocence expand where there is an only war is the one of peace and love because laughters invade their hearts

I've seen moonlight...

Will new winds...