

As Tall As Lions, Milk And Honey

Written by: Brandon Syms

I'm sick of wakin' up alone,
Honey I'm pleading,
Let's put away the sticks and stones,
Be human beings,
'Cause I have the sense to be afraid to be a fool,
I have the sense to be afraid to be a fool

*You push me out,
You push me out again,
You push me up,
You push me up against a wall

You told me once your body flowed,
With milk and honey,
What ever happened to our boy,
Inside your tummy?
Oh I had the sense to be afraid to be a fool,
Oh but I'm on a fence to make you stay or to be cruel,

* (2x)

You perfume covered helpless louse,
Look on the bright side,
See every time you laugh out loud,
I'm crying inside,
But I have the sense to be afraid to be the fool,
Try common sense, make me believe,
Believe in you

'Cause I should have known,
I should have known,
Yeah I should have known,
You'd kick me hard when I'm on the ground (Oh)
Kick me hard when I'm on the ground (Oh) (2x)
