

Ash, A Life Less Ordinary

[Verse 1]

I smoke myself to a haze in the afternoon
Enveloped heart and the air is cool,
Put on your dress, white goddess.
And settle in as the weather folds, in the slow haze of the afternoon, swaying hips made like a gun, blackest sails, the most beautiful.

[Verse 2]

You were conceived in my heart came like a dream, to save me from my mortality, put on your dress, white goddess.
And settle in as the weather folds, our lives will be entwined even when I die, you'll see me through to the end of time, no earthly bride it was beautiful.

[Before chorus]

Star, in the world, in the air, on my tongue,
Before my eyes, beyond the stars, beneath the sun.

[Chorus]

So take, me in your arms again. Lead me in my dreams again.
So, what is it worth? I'll sell my soul, what is it worth?. Only you know.
