Asha, Awake

Where is the pain where is the love the king of all the grace is freeing a new ghost step over step down to the shore trying to find a reason why we´re alone i´m a new man my darkness hour has gone away the message now has been sent i´m awake it´s raining again heaven´s turning dark i saw your face with a mark scars from life far away nightmares in my eyes you turned your head while she said don´t cross the line