

Ashbury Heights, World Coming Down

Who would've thought it all could end
Make believe was to defend
Another day, another year
Against the multitudes of fear
As heaven lost its will to kill
Since the day our earth stood still Another dance, another swirl
Defiling every boy and girl

Our world is coming down
I see the signs, they're all around
All around
Like footprints on the ground

An infant cradling in the dirt
In spite of those who gave her birth
Lucifer is gaining girth
The sacrifice has lost its worth
Crucified upon a screen
Death becomes a picture dream
Another lie, another stone
To push us further down below
