

Ashes You Leave, Lay Down Alone

Till now my life was just a play
The love, the pain and faith
I feel this cold wind on my skin
This gray wind of the pain
Winter wakes up my memories
And screaming to my heart
I'm looking through the emptiness
And search for your light
The time has taken our innocence
Don't let time take our soul
This dead ocean in your mind
Is every moment of the past
I'm still trying to believe that beatings of my heart
Are the signs to call the love
Not just the rhythm to survive
This is the wheel of life, of me
Praying for another kind of stories
You can see the sad time, Oh!
Lay down alone
You can see the flowers eyes But just on someone else
Now my life is the sad bloom
Lay down alone