

Ashley Tisdale, Who I Am

(...But you don't really know who I am)
Oh (You think you know me)
Who I am, who I am, no, no...
(You think you know me)

All alone in the dark
Now that our walk in the park
Has headed suddenly off a cliff

It's like you're dragging me down
Our love's six feet underground
And now I'm finding it hard to breathe

Our days have turned into mud (don't know, don't think you know me)
And now I know that I'm done

You never call me by name
Think I want you to change
You think you know me
But you don't know really know what I mean
You say I take it too deep
You think you know me
But you don't really know who I am
You think you know me, you think you know me
But you don't really know who I am (yeah)
But you don't really know who I am

Now I'm seeing the light
Paid the toll of our fights
I'm driving away from you

I won't get stuck in the past
How could you think this would last
You're just a bump in the road for me

Our days had turned into mud (don't know, don't think you know me)
And now I know that I'm done

You never call me by name
Think I want you to change
You think you know me
But you don't know really know what I mean
You say I take it too deep
You think you know me
But you don't really know who I am
You think you know me
But you don't really know who I am
You don't really know who I am

No, no!
(You think you know me)
Yeah yeah ah, yeah yeah ah
(You think you know me)

You never call me by name
Think I want you to change
You think you know me
But you don't know really know what I mean
You say I take it too deep
You think you know me
But you don't really know who I am (Who I am)
But you don't really know who I am
But you don't really know who I am
