

Asia, Can't Tell These Walls

You said time would heal all the scars inside,
But hurt seems to grow not die
No matter how I try
I regret the things that I've said
Can't forget the words you misread that night
I know I was unkind
Sitting here all alone
How I wish I could change the past
Feelings hidden, unshown
Behind the mask

Can't stop the rain from falling
Can't stop the world from turning
Can't take the cold, the hurting
Can't tell these walls I'm missing you

Fallen down, can I pick myself up from the ground?
Look at the face of this clown
I've tried to hide the tears
Sitting here all alone
How I wish I could change the past
Is there ever a chance?
Still the river flows

Can't stop the rain from falling
Can't stop the world from turning
Can't take the cold, the hurting
Can't tell these walls I'm missing you