</lyrics>

Like a cloud that has melted and dances in the sky

There are things that aren't connected

There are things that disappear as you count sheep

It's a melody so beautiful that it's sad

Even as the time passes

My memories won't fade

I'm clutching them in my right pocket

And they've been crushed

I was lonely

As the world cried

And I'm soaked

As I cried, too

Somehow it wasn't cast out

But quietly attached to my heart

Reach out and search for a place with meaning

This place you've lost sight of is just the start

Isn't it
