

Ass Ponys, Bible House

see the man standing in the doorway (down at the bible house) he's got a meat hook in his hand there's a slab hanging in the closet gonna drag that meat to the promised land see the girl working in the kitchen she's got scars up and down her arms cigarette burning in the ashtray you wouldn't think that it could do any harm

everybody's happy
everybody's smiling
you wonder if it's really true
all the little sinners
underneath the floor
you wonder what they really do see the group gathered in a circle holding hands and waiting for a sign there's a smell coming through the floorboards you know that devil's been here all this time see the crowd coming up the driveway the good people of the town they've got gasoline and matches they're gonna burn that hell house down

everybody's happy
everybody's smiling
