Assemblage 23, Awake

I am lost The footprints that I left have disappeared For now I am driving blind

Accelerate Without a destination to welcome me This road is just an endless loop

CHORUS
Every time I close my eyes
The noise inside me amplifies
I can't escape
I relive every moment of the day
Every misstep I have made
Finds a way it can invade
My every thought
And this is why I find myself awake

Directionless
The letters on the signs have long since faded
The sky conspires to swallow me

Paid the price For burning all the maps to warm myself I threw their ashes to the wind

(CH)

Walk away Time to leave the realm of the familiar To find a place where sleep can come

Hesitate
For one last time I shout into the sky
To wake the ones I'll leave behind
