

At The Gates, Souls Of The Evil Departed floating away within dreams from a thousand worlds, my sould has left the spheres of man for all time... the rest of me

the rotten limbs and my bones dwelling within the sacred gardens of greif while my mind is adrift upon the seas of starvation a tombstone is raised to mark I am not forgotten
I remember faintly, like whispers from beyond all time the reasons for my death but reason are part of life and I am forever more, part of death part of death
part of death
I greet you welcome to the world of the evil departed the neverending landscape of damnation we were sowing the seeds of blasphemy consumed by the burning flame of eternity
we were sowing the seeds of blasphemy
souls of the evil departed all dwell here in a number beyond counting
souls of the evil departed
souls of the evil departed
the memories are slowly eating away at my shredded sanity the yerning for life has vanished, nothing left to live for in this void of lost souls and insanity my existance
is a mockery