ATB, Wait For Your Heart

One more time with emotion It's so delicate When you're painting someone's heart It's a little bit hard to be so eloquent When you don't know where to start

I'll wait where the moonbeam hides I'll wait on the other side Away from the words I know I'm waiting for your heart I'm waiting for you heart to drop

One more time with some feeling I'm not finished yet I'm just trying to find the start I try to say what I'm meaning But nothing seems to fit When I'm trying to fill your heart