

Athlete, The Awkward Goodbye

My heart is a stone, you don't wanna go there
But I don't mind if you try
If you should go I'll be a soldier
But I can't fight without you
And outside love moves on to an imaginary world
Where we both belong in an imaginary world, oh
My heart is a stone, you don't wanna go there
But I don't mind if you try
We studied the cold, we made friends with it
And it brought us back our bodies intact
And no one knows how I love you
No one comes even close
And sunlight runs through my veins for you, oh

And outside love moves on to an imaginary world
Where we both belong in an imaginary world, oh
And no one knows how I love you
No one comes even close
And sunlight runs through my veins for you
No one knows how I love you
No one comes even close
And sunlight runs through my veins for you, oh
I put my hands up 'cause this is so obvious
That look in your eye of an awkward goodbye