

Atmosphere, mama had a baby

Atmosphere

Miscellaneous

mama had a baby

Six.. six.. six in the morning and i'm taking a nap

In the back of the car waiting for the stars to snap.

The stars on my cap

remind me of the time

we went to Fargo

with a car full of anxiety.

An angel's breast, and a tank top she stared at my heart she's trying to make it stop and if i havent leearned nothin then i've learned a lot

momma had a baby and its head popped off.

Give it up, turn it lose fokr the sake of life

if i knew now what i knew then i'd make her my wife.

I've been chasing these mic's for too long debating with god

about who's right and who's wrong got a new song to sing

a little happier.

hurting

that i didn't learn the words until after the matter is a matter of fact

i doubt that i'll ever even try to work it to having her back.

used to skip classes,

now i skip breakfast

never skip practice and i need to flip the mattress to help me forget the kiss, the lips, the soft

momma had a baby and its head popped off

momma had a baby and its head popped off,

we did all we could to try and reattach it.

i couldn't do it so i picked it up and threw it

off the building

just to see if all the children were quick enough to catch it.

momma had a baby and its head popped off,

we did all we could to try and reattach it.

i couldn't do it so i picked it up and threw it

off the building

just to see if all the children were quick enough to catch it.

So i'll tear down these walls let the chips fall

let's all go outside and play a game of kickball laugh a little and live a lot

she squeals and giggles when i hit that spot if you give me a minute and i can finish my beer i'll move a tad bit closer to the limits of hear and when it gets clear and the sun comes back

we can drive too fast

we can fly off the tracks tuck in your shirt hike up your skirt welcome to the jungle where the tigers give birth i only took my time because she looked so fine and it makes me crazy trying to pay them no mind you should save your spine and stay on the struggle shoot the trouble and keep the temper subtle

My rent just doubled because they took my roommate and i'm keepin these movies because they all past the due date

Close, cover before the striking lick a missile at the bird, try to cripple its right wing and i end every sentence with a dot dot dot
momma had a baby and its head popped off.

momma had a baby and its head popped off,
we did all we could to try and reattach it.
i couldn't do it so i picked it up and threw it
off the building
just to see if all the children were quick enough to catch it.

say outloud, we must network should have been more specific now have this daily pressure some of them just dont get it leave me at the beginning start over and do it well shut my trap, stop complaining stay sober and step on shells my oh my,

yours oh yours
and when it snows, it pours and when i'm running out of fire, i just open the doors and go sit on the porch and watch the neighborhood wars

But the sun I've got and i've got my son and i've got my will to run until I'm dead and done and this is for the love we've found and the love we've lost,
momma had a baby and its head popped off

momma had a baby and its head popped off,
we did all we could to try and reattach it.
i couldn't do it so i picked it up and threw it
off the building
just to see if all the children were quick enough to catch it.

momma had a baby and its head popped off,
we did all we could to try and reattach it.
i couldn't do it so i picked it up and threw it
off the building

just to see if all the children were quick enough to catch it.