

Atom And His Package, Alpha Desperation March

I am coming in..try and stop me push furniture in front of the door, it only gives me something to push against in the full heat of the summer's day

you're telling me
to go away

but you owe me 8 thousand dollars, and i could use it i'm only getting stronger, you may have noticed but my head full of memories propels me ever forward and in the living room i can't see where you are, but the back door's locked, so you can't have gone far and 8 thousand dollars is a whole lot of money and i could use it could be that it's my imagination but i think i hear you now so come out, come out wherever you are olly olly olly olly olly olly ox and free see, i'm perfectly aware, where it is that our love stands, but the plain fact is that you owe me 8 grand, if it helps jog your memory, i lent it to you on tuesday when we were drinking
