

Attak, Today's Generation

Today's generation standing in a crowd
Today's generation can you be proud
Of the way you are living in a dying nation
And the life you live with no destination
Today's generation don't turn your backs
Today's generation understand the facts
That no one will listen to your cries
If you turn away and close your eyes
X generation without a future
X generation without a culture
No place to hide in this world of hate
Today's generation is gonna meet it's fate