Audio Karate, Lady Melody

round and round you break a little lovely voice is singing like a Mom to her baby round and round you break a little comatose is all you'd need to show we're just crazy water break-in is chasing after us she says life will lead to lust then she tossed me outta the womb round and round it takes a little loveliness to lead her gang of four into the grave we're obliged to play a little until we close up we refuse to go we're just crazy delicately crashing into us she's been lauging into us until she tosses me outta the womb well i guess we have to run singing now i know that im done swelling up swell enough now i know that im swlling up singing yes! we have to run
