

Augury, Skyles

This cave...

Strange children once came out to face the light!

A few found their way, backed their tracks, into the gloom...

Down in a nightly world

They felt someone coming

Heard voices inside, elder souls spoke:

&quot;Feeble people from above

Do prepare to meet the flesh of your legends

Witness the emergence

Sons of the skyles land come

Once deserters of the surface

Anthill Earth revealed in legends all over the world

Skyles diaspora

Driven away from the sun for so long

Erratic with burning eyes

Shocked before the horizon and its convexity

Rising, out of the deep, testifying our glory

Lost marvels meant to see the light at last

So far under your feet, few among you did conceive

In our outskirts you saw a world becoming yours

Sons of the skyles land come

Once deserters of the surface

Anthill Earth revealed in legends all over the world

Skyles diaspora

Driven away from the sun for so long

Conquered matter while you apes went scampering in trees

Then you got crowned over creation

Rising out of the deep, testifying our glory

(We) made mountains fly, conquered seven stars

Hollow realm under your feet

The vault of all mysteries

Legends are given life to outshine the lies&quot;
