

Aurora, I'll Cry Alone

i'll cry alone
when the curtain fell down from the sky and storms through my distressed seat of passion

i'll cry alone
when tranquillity diffuse in winds of funeral hall and cover my mournfull tears with a thick lay of pain

then i will speed through the heavens, i will speed through my life
speed through time
then i will speed through the heavens
i will speed through my life
speed through time

then let all leaves descend into a deep sleep and let the ache amplitude in every corner were malignancy is lurking

let me be silhouetted
upon the unlitting sky
as i draw down my life on tissue paper and silent decline away then i'll speed through the heavens and i'll speed through time

speed through time
then i'll speed through the heaven i'll speed through the night

let me be silhouetted
upon the unlitting sky
when i'm drawing down my life
let me be silhouetted
as i silent decline away

i'll cry alone