

Austin Mahone, Torture

Baby

You got me up all night in bed thinking
About our love, the nights you've been with me
And how I wished that I could reach you through them

Across the globe, you're far away
But your heart stays here with me baby
If I could turn back the hands of time, I would
Freeze the clocks and start all over
I would love you all the way just like I should
Every minute without you it feels like torture /5x

Baby

I just really need your loving
'Cause I get lost trying to search for something
I hear you calling so I come running
I'm always running back for your heart, baby

Across the globe, you're far away
But your heart stays here with me baby
If I could turn back the hands of time, I would
Freeze the clocks and start all over
I would love you all the way just like I should
Every minute without you it feels like torture /5x
