

Authority Zero, The Bravery

We are the bravery that stands today
And paves our own way
These are my hopes
These are my dreams
This is the way that I'd like to think
That things could be
Out on my own taking the chances as I go
I'll never give up, I'll never give in
I'm going to fight this till the end of my days
And I'm turning blue in the face
Because my heart tells me not to take this
With every breath that I breathe today
I'm not giving up, fuck your expectations
These words I'll sing until my dying day
We are the bravery that stands today
And paves our own way
For now we go against the grain
And take the reins for a better day
I'm standing outside of the box
Trying to get a new point of view
Something we have never seen before
But keeping the faith in all I've known
True to myself to the day I die
All these things that keep me alive
This music, my love, my pain
What's paved the way
Because my heart tells me not to take this
With every breath that I breathe today
I'm not giving up, fuck your expectations
These words I'll sing until my dying day
