

Avail, Now

When's better than now
When's better than now
To come with nothing and deny you
When's better than now
When's better than now
To not believe
A thing you say
I've restrained
But it can't go down this way
Eyes that lie
Hide

Burning time
Burning time and blaming memory
To return back to a comfort
In an attempt to feel complete
Than tokenize
With lying eyes as if to care
And it's a shock that you leave calmly
As fast as you appear

When's better than now
When's better than now
To come with nothing and deny you
When's better than now
When's better than now
To take the blame
Unscathed
And remain estranged
I can walk straight
Estranged
With blinders bound
Time

Burning time
Burning time and blaming memory
Oh I won't let myself be troubled
Or deny I'm part guilty
The road will rise
Blackened skies in time will clear
Though it's a shock now to the body
To be without you near