

Averman, Cooler

I've chosen to neglect the things I heard you said
because they never meant half as much as you meant to yourself.
You don't care about anyone else.
"When you turn your back on your friends,
I don't know how you sleep at night"
You don't have to say your sorry.
I'll still think that you're an asshole.
People change, but I feel fine, people change but I feel fine.
I found my way of ridding stress,
screaming as loud as I can just to test my voice.
And I want the world to know that you're a piece of shit.
As fucked up as that is. I feel fine