

Averman, Sweep The Leg

It was cold when I woke up today, from dreaming of you and I'm hoping that I can see you like we planned.
Some days I flirt with a fine line, I'm either sad or losing my mind.
I try to tell myself I'm fine. Just Stick around with me
The truth is that I'm insecure, and terrified I need you more than you need me.
So please be waiting up when I get home.
It's been a long ass week and I can barely breathe.
What's the point in coming home
if you're not sitting there and waiting up for me?
Because I want to be lost deep inside of our hearts.
I warned you that I'm not perfect or exciting from the start.
But something tells me you'll decide to Stick around with me.
The truth is that I'm all fucked up and always watch the door to make sure you don't leave.
So please be waiting up when I get home.
It's been a long ass week and I can barely breathe.
What's the point in coming home
if you're not sitting there and waiting up for me?
But we still gave this a GO!.
Why you can't return a thousand calls, I don't know.
And I'll scream until my face is blue that I'm the only one for you.