

Ayo, Help Is Coming

Situation could be much better much better than today you know that you could do much better much better than you do today but how come you never try to change situation how come you always escape out of a serious conversation don't you know it can't never be too late for us to succeed out of every misery you can be released
as long as you beleive

Help is coming
As long as you beleive
Help is coming
For us to be released
For us to be released

Your lifestyle could be so different From how it is right now Know that you could change so many things If only you want that You should know it can't never be too late Just get up and try
And if you fall and wonder why Just try an other time
But don't give up to fight

Help is coming
As long as you beleive
Help is coming
For us to be released
For us to be released

You're always looking for a scapegoat
Like everything is their fault
And never ever you gonna say maybe I did mistake
I black and white sky Never you gonna say why like you know everything in what thay say just can't be right How come you never change
How come you always failed in everything you did before back then until today

Help is coming
As long as you beleive
Help is coming
For us to be released
For us to be released
