

Ayreon, The Dawn Of Man

OKKIE HUYSSENS:

More than a million years ago,
It came to earth out of the sky.
From whence it came is yet unknown,
And still we don't know why.

EDWARD REEKERS:

Way beyond infinity,
Where time is lost,
And life has ceased to be

OKKIE HUYSSENS: And life has ceased to be.

EDWARD REEKERS:

There's a cosmic entity,
A bringer of life,
For all eternity.

Is this how it all began?
The dawn of man.

OKKIE HUYSSENS:

More than a million miles from earth,
Somewhere in outer space.
Behold a planetary birth,
Making way for a brand new race.

ROBERT SOETERBOEK:

Way beyond infinity.

OKKIE HUYSSENS:

Where time is lost,
And life has ceased to be,
And life has ceased to be.

ROBERT SOETERBOEK:

There's a cosmic entity.

OKKIE HUYSSENS:

A bringer of life,
For all eternity.

EDWARD REEKERS:

Is this how it all began?
The dawn of man.

Is this how it all began?

-----

(Baby laughing and cooing)